

ONLINE EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY

Looking for something to do this winter? Are you interested in learning about what's going on in the world around you? Unifor and McMaster University are offering free online educational courses to our members who work for General Motors, Ford and FCA. Members can use the ZOOM platform to participate from the comfort of their own home and will receive credits towards a McMaster Labour Studies Certificate. With Covid-19 social distancing rules there has never been a better time to sign up for an online course. There is no cost to our members who attend, all course fees are covered by Unifor.
